My Beloved Children,

“It is with joy that I greet you this day, for even just the thought of you brings me such delight! The message I wish to share with you today is one of hope, for your days of now and your days of tomorrow are filled with great promise.

What do you see when you look upon a budding flower? Do you just see the bud or do you see the flower in its beginning of fully blossoming? You see within the bud is the beginning of what is to come. The flower will bloom as things flow in the ideal will it not?

Think of yourself as similar to this beautiful budding flower. You have already been planted as a seed, taken root, developed your root system, poked your head above ground and have begun the process of becoming the sweetness of the flower blooming in all of your glory.

You may have had some issues along the way, perhaps some storms to weather, or rocks that seem to block where you would like to be. This has been part of your journey, your adventure in living life.

Today let us ponder together on you and your life. Look upon yourself in wonder and amazement. You have been living in a world that has been experiencing polarity, or resistance energy. This has offered you many opportunities to live and express and yet perhaps you feel you have not been able to fully live the dreams your heart calls out to experience.

As we ponder on this, I wish for you to see you as I see you. I see you as the children of great promise with unlimited potential. You consciously chose to come and experience life on Earth knowing that the time would come when you would be able to move beyond all that seemingly was holding you from your dreams.

This is that time My Beloveds, for you are at the precipice of great change for yourself and for Beloved Mother Earth, Gaia. You are remembering more and more of your truth of light, and as you embrace this truth, you shine ever so brightly into the places that have perhaps seemed in the shadows or unreachable, lighting the pathways of your dream tomorrows into reality.

As you begin to recognize and accept your divine truth, you can begin to feel the hope that shines every so brightly. Hope for your life experience to move into greater joy, free of pain, sorrow, struggle or what seems like lack.

These have perhaps played roles in your experiences, and now you desire to have some new experiences of a life that is filled with joy, comfort, vitality and abundance of all kind. Yes, your dreams of heart are budding.

You might ask, how can I move beyond the experiences that are less than desired into the promise of a life filled with all my hearts desires? Let me share with you first and foremost that you are great masters of light in the process of remembering your brilliance. It is only a matter of choice and timing, for it is your destiny to remember and experience this truth.

It is a time of great excitement as you prepare to move into a new way of being, a new way of living and expressing that perhaps you have not yet experienced or even dreamed of. If you choose you can find the pathways to greater a freedom, learn master principles and develop your innate gifts and abilities. There are many wonderful tools and teachers available to assist you when you are ready.

You can begin to ponder how, when, what are the steps to my freedom to be my truth, what is it that I desire for my life? With your intention of heart, the ways and means will open up for you to guide you to your hearts desires. Be patient and kind with yourself as you develop and grow, just as you care with tenderness for a budding flower preparing to blossom.

Spend some time each day doing what brings you joy, recognizing your wonder, feeling gratitude for your life as it is and as you are choosing it to become. This will assist you in opening up your mind and your heart into greater acceptance of the sweet vibrations of joy and appreciation. These lighter vibrations can open up so many doors leading to the opportunities you have been longing for.

This is your time to blossom and shine your beautiful truth. This is the hope that I share with you today for now is the time you can dream of your truth and your hearts desires. Dream them into being your reality. You can my beloveds, for you are my children of heart shining with such brightness, filled with infinite potentials and limitless possibilities. It is only for you to choose and allow yourself to open to a new way of being and living. In truth, it is the divine way of your true self. It is your destiny.

I am here beside you cheering you on, lighting pathways of joy. Chanulanaha, remember who you are, for you are my Beloved Children of heart. You are love. You are loved.

Hope shines ever so brightly, lighting the pathways of your heart, the pathways to home.”

With great love,

Your Beloved Mother
