

Language of Love

Ancient Keys of Promise to unlock Your Potential

By Jan Diana

Once upon a time there was young girl named Mary. She loved to play in the garden. She would dance, and sing to the flowers, the birds and the trees. It was her very own special place where she felt a freedom to just be as she desired.

One day while she was playing, she felt a special presence and turned to see a beautiful woman standing beside her. Her excitement grew as she felt a special connection. "Hello" the beautiful woman said, "how are you this lovely day Mary?" She was a little surprised that the beautiful woman knew her name and yet she felt no fear. "I am wonderful" she said, "I am having so much fun playing here in this beautiful garden, it always brings me such joy."

"Yes, the beautiful woman said," It is one of my favorite places to be as well". They spent the afternoon together having a lovely visit. When it was time for Mary to go into her home, they agreed to meet again the next day. It soon became an everyday event where they talked about life experiences and had a delightful time.

The years passed by as Mary grew up into a beautiful young woman. She had some important news to share with her friend today. She was preparing to go away to school. She asked the Beautiful Woman, "I am so happy here and I love our visits, I will miss this the most. How will I be able to know what the ideal life choices are for me while I am away from this beautiful garden and our daily visits?"

The Beautiful Woman, smiled at her and said, "Dear Mary, You have the answers with you always, for within you is a beautiful golden treasure." Mary felt such peace and joy as she realized that her friend, the Beautiful Woman would be with her wherever she went in life.

Just like Mary, we each have within us is a golden treasure waiting to be discovered. This treasure can assist us in feeling peace, joy and in knowing ideal life choices. In quiet moments when we are in the sweetness of the silence, it is easier to hear more clearly the sweet song of that golden treasure.

There are many pathways to this treasure. Some are swift and some with many twists and turns, yet all pathways lead to its eventual discovery. Perhaps you are wondering, what is this treasure I speak of? The golden treasure is your authentic self, the truth of you, that sweet essence of love which is perfect, capable of infinite possibilities and potentials, knows divine truth and exists in timelessness.

Many of you have discovered methods to connect with that sweet treasure, perhaps within stillness, in meditation, through prayer, in your garden, walking in nature or by other means.

You may have experienced glimpses and yet know, feel, or have a sense that there is more to discover. Life is a quest for truth, a journey to discover the pathways back to the true self.

How can we reach that treasure, to not only know our truth but to easily recognize and embrace it? Questions come to mind and we seek answers through many different means. Today, I am going to share with you a wonderful way that will assist in opening up gateways of understanding, and to gracefully embrace pathways of acceptance of your truth.

Several years ago, I began to speak another language. I was quite amazed at the time.

I had heard some people speaking the Language of Light before and thought this must be what it was. It seemed to come very naturally to me. I became aware that I was channeling the Heavenly Mother, Goddess Creator and that this was the Mother's language, her Language of Love, the language of Origin.

I noticed how wonderful I felt when speaking it. I also noticed that when I began to translate into English, the messages would be in concepts, like packages; there really wasn't a direct literal translation. I also became aware that people loved to hear the language, it brought them joy. It was as if it spoke to their hearts.

I discovered that the Language of Love is the Language of our Origin. It is sacred geometry, tones, vibrations, frequencies, and colors. It bypasses the parts of mind that hold mind chatter, speaking to our conscious mind and heart. It is recognized on so many levels as it is love, divine love. Love is the great healer and illuminator. All of Creation recognizes this language on so many levels. The Language of love is known by the cells of your body. Imagine the potential it has to bless and uplift your physical body and your life!

A short while ago I was guided to begin to teach the Language of Love by introducing a mantra, Chanulanaha. Many of you may have seen me write it or speak it and perhaps wondered what it meant and why I used it so frequently. Chanulanaha is a sacred love mantra in the Language of Love. It is a gift, a sacred message from the Goddess Mother, "My Beloved Children, from my heart to your heart, remember who you are for you are love, you are my children of light." Spoken as Chan u lana ha, the message continues. Chanulanaha, remembering the divine, we are love, we are one. In blessing you, I bless myself for we are one family in heart.

Using this sacred mantra assists in shifting energy into greater harmony and balance, and alignment with your authentic self. You can use this love mantra to elevate your vibration and experience the blessings. It will bless you and your life in amazing ways.

Here are some ways to use Chanulanaha:

1. It can be used as a chant, either silent or with voice, with mala beads -108 times, or for 3 min. 11 minutes is magical.
2. You can think or say Chanulanaha when you are in gratitude and joy.
3. You can think or say Chanulanaha when you are in discomfort.
4. You can bless yourself, everything in your life that you are happy with or not happy with.

It is love, and blesses all, it blesses the cells of your body, blesses your home, blesses all in your life.

5. If you have someone you would like to assist, it is a love prayer, well wishes. You can bless family, friends, pets, anyone or anything.
6. You can share it with others and magic happens. Chan u lana ha!
